

Safe, Effective, Non-hormonal Relief for Menopausal Hot Flashes

Sponsored Advertising Content

Menopause is a time of life few women are excited to experience. Most women dread the big “M,” and it doesn’t help that magazines, movies, and mainstream media portray this transition as a time of suffering. But suffer no more, because with Relizen you can find relief!

Relizen is a safe, effective, drug-free, non-hormonal treatment for hot flashes and other symptoms of menopause.* It is a dietary supplement made from a unique, patented, proprietary blend of Swedish flower pollen extract that has been available in Europe for over 15 years, where it has been used by over a million women. Introduced to the United States in 2014, Relizen has been endorsed by over 2,600 American gynecologists.

In a well-controlled study, Relizen showed a significant reduction in frequency of hot flashes, with side effects no different from a sugar pill and no observed drug interactions.* In a separate open-label study with over 400 women, Relizen showed reductions in intensity of hot flashes and night sweats and improvements in fatigue, irritability, quality of sleep, and overall quality of life.*

For best results with Relizen, it is advised that you stay on active therapy for at least 3 full months, taking 2 tablets once per day. Relizen is available exclusively for order online or over the phone, at www.Relizen.com or 1-855-RELIZEN (735-4936). If you apply the code 5000125 to your purchase, you will receive a discount on your order.†

Relizen provides safe, effective, non-hormonal relief from hot flashes without the use of drugs.* Why not try it today?
