Spring Wedding Tips

Consider an indoor-outdoor venue

Spring is a gorgeous season to plan your wedding, but the weather might be unpredictable, so choose your venue carefully. Plan around the beautiful spring sunshine but also look at the options if the weather isn't so great.

Book early

Spring is a popular time to get married, so your favorite vendors may be booked up very early. Don't be afraid to go with your gut instinct and make that booking early. Many companies will secure the date for you with a deposit down, and you don't have to have details such as your color theme decided at the time.

Go seasonal

Spring brides have a great choice when it comes to flowers. Late spring flowers such as sweet peas and peonies come in an array of different colors and are stunning in both bouquets and centerpieces. Flowers could be a good place to start your planning in terms of a theme and your colors based on the blooms available.

Be kind to your bridesmaids

Flowing chiffon and tulle bridesmaid dresses can be stunning but aren't the warmest outfits for a chilly spring day. If you are choosing this type of dress for your bridesmaids, be sure to check out wraps or shrugs for them.

Fall Wedding Tips

Consider seasonal stationary suites

Use seasonal stationary with gorgeous pops of color such as burgundy, brown, orange, and gold—just a few of the colors to consider when planning a fall wedding.

Have a cozy place for your guests

If you are getting married outdoors, make sure there is a place for guests to gather that provides warmth for them. Fall weather is unpredictable. A cold forecast means guests might not stay as long if they are uncomfortably chilly.

Give cozy gifts and fall-themed favors to guests

Try these warm style

slippers and blankets for bridesmaids, fall wedding favors such as a pumpkin bottle opener, personalized maple syrup bottle, or edible favors such as monogrammed apple cider, hot cocoa in a muslin bag, or a personalized jam jar.
