

Do I Need Just a Hair Addition or a Full Wig?

Anita Polin has worked in the beauty industry for over 40 years. Education is her passion, and she has been teaching for 17 years. Anita presently travels to salons in New York, Pennsylvania, and Virginia teaching stylists about color and hair products. She finds that helping others succeed in the industry she loves is very rewarding. Her love for wigs and hair additions began when she worked for Disney World. Seeing how people change when they put something on that makes them feel beautiful started Anita thinking. She went on to take advanced training in wig work for men and women. She says, "In this industry, we change lives. I am just as excited today as I was when I first started my career. I'm always learning, sharing my knowledge, and helping people feel amazing!"

You have noticed your hair has begun to change. It is getting harder to style and is much thinner on top or all over. What are some of your options? Who do you talk to?

Your stylist should talk to you about what are your best options for styling products that can really help to support your style. There are a lot of professional products today that add fullness and won't weigh your hair down.

Now that it is summer and you might be spending time at the beach or the pool, what are your options to take care of your hair and still look great? Always use professional products with sunscreen to protect your color and the proper shampoo and conditioner to keep your hair strong. Professional products might cost a little more, but you are paying for much safer ingredients, and, used properly, they will last longer.

If you still have a good amount of hair but it is thin on top, a top piece might be all you need. You might feel more comfortable with a full hairpiece that you can pull up in a ponytail or a short wig for the summer.

There are so many options to match your lifestyle. Anita will take the time to find out what is the best look for you. She is able to cut, style, and maintain your piece for you. When your piece comes in, a time is set up to show you how to work with it at home.

Picking the right color that looks the most natural on you and that complements your skin tone is very important.
