

The Bucks County Tradition of signature framing continues at the Silverman Gallery. . .

by Rhonda Garland
Owner, Silverman Gallery

One of the best things about our gallery is the opportunity to present paintings in the nicest frames possible!

Here in Bucks County we continue along the path of a long standing tradition of offering uniquely crafted, one-of-a-kind frames. Often they are made to go on a specific painting.

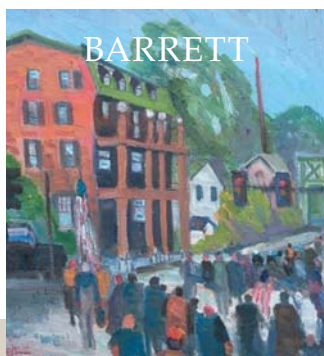

The gallery also carries lovely hand-tooled frames that can dress up any type of painting. Customers may choose from several on hand or ask for something to be made. Jean Childs Buzgo's delightful Wildflowers II (5 x 7" - oil on board) is shown to the left in a gold David Madary frame.

Framing is so fun! The crowning touch on any fine painting is the frame. Sometimes an artist will trademark his work with a frame crafted in his own workshop.

Shown to the right is Joseph Barrett's Mill Creek, (30 x 32" oil on linen) in one of his specially designed, hand-decorated gold panel frames. His paintings are joyous and alive with color. This extra touch sets his work apart and makes it even more highly sought after.

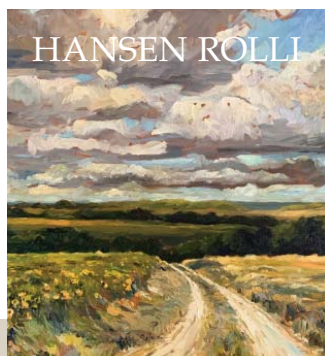

Carversville artist David Stier brings a more modern touch to his work by choosing to make his own frames. Once a body of work is complete, he decides upon the best combination of gilding and coloration for each one, as shown below on Eternity (8.5 x 14" - oil on board).
